

Completion of the Doctor of Technical Sciences

When submitting, please note that the assessment of your dissertation by the appraisers can take up to four months. The exact examination dates and registration weeks for the thesis defense can be found on the website. The “Application for Admission to the Rigorosum” can only be granted if all requirements according to the curriculum have been fulfilled.

Submission of documents

- Upload your dissertation digitally via AkademieOnline, including an abstract and a short biography in German and English. Please note that you have the option of submitting a revocation application (“Sperrantrag”). This option is available in AkademieOnline (using the online form) after uploading the dissertation. See also the FAQs on the website.
- The digital version of the dissertation is then subjected to a plagiarism check using appropriate software. The resulting similarity-report will be forwarded to the reviewers (supervisor, second appraiser) for assessment in due course. See also the guideline on mandatory plagiarism checks for dissertations.
- The submission of the bound version of the dissertation (two copies) also includes the declaration on oath (“Eidesstaatliche Erklärung”), the form for admission for approbation of the dissertation (“Ansuchen um Approbation der Dissertation”) and, if necessary, the revocation application (“Sperrantrag”) in the Registrar’s Office. Please note that the bound copies must be identical to the digitally uploaded version – also, typing or spelling errors may not be corrected subsequently.
- The Registrar’s Office will inform you about the start of the review process.
- All reviewers (supervisor, second appraiser) will receive the digital version of your dissertation, the similarity-report, and an information sheet about the evaluation process. From this moment on, the reviewers will have a total of four months to evaluate your dissertation.

Rigorosum

- Once all reviews are available, you and your supervisor will be informed by the Registrar's Office. In addition, the reviews (by supervisor and second appraiser), the "Application for Admission to the Rigorosum" and the "Examination panel" ("Prüfungssenat") form are sent to you and your supervisor. In coordination with all parties involved (incl. external appraiser and chair person of the examination panel) you and your supervisor agree on a possible examination date.

A...kademie der bildenden Künste Wien

- Please note: A rigorosum is possible in presence as well as online. The decision about the format is up to you. The room and technical equipment is organized by the Institute for Art and Architecture. Please discuss this with your supervisor.
- Once the date has been agreed upon and fixed, you can submit the "Examination Panel" („Prüfungssenat“) form at the Registrar's Office within the registration week.
- If the date has been approved by the Vice-Rector, the Registrar's Office will inform all parties involved, as well as the institute and the Center for Doctoral Studies about the set date. The Center for Doctoral Studies will then contact you to obtain all important information for the announcement.
- Since a rigorosum is a public event, it will be announced via the Academy website (under "Events") and via the "Mitteilungsblatt" (Newsletter).

After the Rigorosum

- In order to receive your graduation certificate, you must go to the University Library to retrieve a so-called "Lastenfreiheit," which proves that you are free from library encumbrances. Thereby, the library will change your status to alumni_a ("Absolvent_in"). This will allow you to use the library free of charge for life.
- After completing the Doctor of Technical Sciences program, it may make sense to apply for awards and/or grants. You can find more information about this on the webpage of the Department Art | Research | Support.
- Are you interested in postdoc funding? Feel free to contact us for an information appointment at doktoratszentrum@akbild.ac.at or find out more about our Calls / Contests Art and Research.
- A publication of the dissertation / PhD project may be beneficial.
